

RESOURCE EFFICIENT HARDWARE LOOPS

ABSTRACT

In one embodiment, a programmable processor is 5 adapted to support hardware loops. The processor may include hardware such as a first set of registers, a second set of registers, a first pipeline, and a second pipeline. Furthermore, the processor may include a control unit adapted to efficiently implement the hardware 10 when performing a hardware loop.